NEWSLETTER 5

September 2024

The partners' meeting and training for the project took place from September, 30th to October, 4th 2024 in Tunis, Tunisia! The main activities during this period were the SeHeMe training and the final meeting among the partners. It was an excellent opportunity for our partners to meet, share their knowledge and finalise the outstanding issues of the project before its completion.

During the recent LTTA in Tunis, participants—comprising migrants, international and local students, as well as project partners—engaged in an intensive three-days programme. Five thematic workshops were held: "Journalism for Social Change," "Media Literacy," "Cultural Norms," "Networking" and "Public Speaking." These workshops aimed to empower attendees with skills for active citizenship and effective communication, fostering a collaborative learning environment.

Following the LTTA, the Final Meeting SeHeMe project took place, where partners reviewed the quality of project outputs, discussed the upcoming SeHeMe events and emphasised strategies for sustainability. Key discussions included project visibility, with plans for promotional videos and a Community of Practice to maintain long-term engagement. Partners also went through the publicity plan, ensuring all tasks align with the project's goals of supporting newcomers and promoting informed journalism in migrant communities.

SEHEME Events

Six SeHeMe Events were implemented, one in each partner country, with the objective of generating public and governmental attention and awareness of the initiative. These events have the potential to extend the project's lifespan beyond its funding period. The project's sustainability and longevity were enhanced by the events, which attracted participants from the target groups.
